

Terry Cunningham

Terry Cunningham is an educational consultant who has an extensive background in instructional design and curriculum development. She has developed education strategic and tactical planning for private companies and non-profit organizations. As Vice-President of Education for the CCIM Institute, she pioneered adult and online learning initiatives throughout her 16 year tenure. She was instrumental in the development of CCIM's Robert L. Ward Center, major curriculum redesigns, and the advancement of the Institute's online educational presence.